Woman may crown herself with good health if she will. By so doing she will insure her own attractiveness, make her husband and her home happy, and protect the health of her babies. Health is the most glorious crown that a woman may wear. To wear it she must take proper care of herself, and see to it that the delicate organs that are distinctly feminine are always healthy and strong. Thousands of women fall short of good health in this one respect, and as a result soon become but wrecks of their former selves. A woman cannot long retain her general health who is suffering from weakness and disease of the organs that make wifehood and motherhood possible. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription acts directly on these organs. It makes them well and strong. It prepares a woman to be a wife and mother. It does away with the discomforts of the expectant period and makes baby's advent easy and almost painless. All good druggists sell it.

"I am glad," writes Mrs. Louis Arthur, of Oswalt, Fredell Co., N. C., "to express my gratitude to you for the benefits I have received from your medicines. After the birth of my second child I was stricken with derangement of the stomach and liver and a full line of female weaknesses. For seven years I suffered untold misery. Then my husband, J. S. Arthur, sent for a copy of your 'Common Sense Medical Adviser.' The book described my sufferings so plainly that I purchased bottles of your 'Favorite Prescription' and 'Golden Medical Discovery' and a vial of 'Pleasant Pellets.' Our doctor pronounced my case hopeless, and laid aside your medicines, calling them nostrums, and for six months lay under his disgusting treatment. At the end of this time I commenced taking your medicine and improved very fast. I was soon able to do my household work. My baby thrived fast, and is to-day the healthiest child I have. Your medicine saved my life. My husband was so moved that I recommend your medicines constantly."

Secretary Gage recommends the rement of greenbacks and President McKinley emphasizes the recommendaon of the Secretary in his message to Congress. This would have the effect making money scarcer even than it now and still further reducing the of labor and commodities. The covery of gold in California in-ased the price of real estate, the oducts of the soil and the wages of e workmen throughout the United ates 25 per cent. The product of the auzas of the Comstock further in-ased prices and for years the United ates was the most prosperous coun-y on the globe. The marketable ue of commodities was constantly ing, encouraging enterprise and in-estment. This era of prosperity was ought to a close by the suspension of ver coinage and making gold do ble duty as money, that is making ld alone, instead of gold and silver, e money of final redemption. This as accomplished by degrees, as those ere profiting by the contraction primary money feared the people, d the scheme was not fully consumated until the repeal of the act of 99 authorizing the purchase of $500, ounces of silver monthly to be id for in Treasury notes redeemable standard dollars at the option of e Government. Since then, though e population has been steadily ineasing the volume of money has been eadily decreasing and the market ue of property constantly depreciatg.

As a remedy for this Banker Gage, ecretary of the Treasury, suggests the irement of greenbacks, which would ill further reduce the volume of oney, and President McKinley recomends that Congress use Banker 's prescription.

Those who are personally acquainted th President McKinley say he is udly disposed toward the masses of e people. Hard times broke him up business and he knows by experience the hardships imposed on debts by contraction of the currency. He conscious of the injustice of compelling people to cancel their obliga-s in dollars, which by reason of eir scarcity, cost twice as much labor products as similar dollars did when e obligation was incurred, but he els that he must obey the commands the men who contributed fifteen or enty millions to elect him and those people, being creditors, want dollars ade more valuable by limiting their umber, thus increasing their purasing power.

President McKinley undoubtedly sires to see the masses of the people usperous. A few years ago he deounced Cleveland, who was then resident, for his persistent efforts to monetize one of the coins of com-erce, limit the volume of money mong the people, make money scarce d therefore dear, diminishing the ue of everything else. Now Presi-ent McKinley is in the hands of the ng which controlled Cleveland's ading and lacking the courage break away from them he permits em to run his Administration, as ey did that of Cleveland. To-day as resident he recommends the finan-al policy which he publicly commended. When Cleveland was Presi-ent, presumably, not because he beeves it is good for the country, but because the trusts, which contributed illions to a fund to elect him, insist on his doing so.

THE INVESTIGATION.

would precisely. He explained why, saying that in the course of Nature or the decay of the body or parts of it it really made little difference whether the destruction came from worms in the ground or otherwise, except that people were naturally sensitive and custom had made the laying of the body away in the ground seem a more proper manner of disposing of it. I don't remember whether I saw the body of Thomas after death or not. In nearly every instance I have seen the remains of deceased patients either before or after being taken to the morgue. I have no recollection of seeing the remains of Thomas nor of noting any effluvia from the body. During the absence of Mr. Wood, the duties of Supervisor devolved upon Mr.
LaGrave, I never heard of the condition of Thomas' body until the present charges were made. I am here daily until one o'clock, then I go to town and remain until 6 o'clock then return home and go back to town in the evening or spend the evening until bedtime in reading or writing. Mr.
Westerfield asked the doctor, if it was not supposed that the Superintendent was under certain rules as well as other employees. The doctor said that such was the fact. Mr. Westerfield then announced that he would refresh the memory of the doctor concerning that matter in a day or two. The doctor answered that he was at liberty to refresh his memory on any subject he desired.

Olovio LaGrave, sworn. Am Supervisor and clerk. I remember of the death of Thomas and the removal of the remains to the morgue. He died at 6 A. M. on the 23 of August and was buried on the evening of the 24th. I saw his remains just before burial.
They were swollen to some extent.
There was some odor in the morgue but none outside. I could see a small quantity of fly blows in one eye. The face was not fly blown. I stepped in the door and looked at the remains and stepped out. I could see the face plainly.

Here considerable discussion occurred over the size of the bunch of maggots.

Mr. LaGrave said that it was customary to cover a dead body with a sheet.

Mr. Wright was recalled. He stated that when he laid the body of Thomas out he covered it with a sheet. That the bunch of fly blows was about as large as a hen's egg.

The attorneys submitted the case without argument and the Board took the matter under advisement and adjourned.

THE INVESTIGATION.

The Charges of H. W. Wood Against Superintendent Bergstein Heard by the Board.

The Board of Commissioners for the Care of the Indigent Insane met at the Hospital for Mental Diseases yesterday, pursuant to appointment.

Governor Sadler called the Board to order and called upon Clovia LaGrave to act as Secretary pro tem. The purposes of the meeting were stated by Chairman of the Board, viz: To investigate certain charges preferred by H. W. Wood, ex-bookkeeper, against Dr. H. Bergstein, the Superintendent of the Hospital.

Hon. Thos. Wren represented Dr. Bergstein and Hon. E. R. Dodge represented Mr. Wood.

Mr. Chas. Knox was sworn as official reporter.

Witnesses for the prosecution were sworn.

W. H. Young was called and said:

Was a former employe of the institution; was an attendant; was employed about two years. I was employed in C ward and subsequently in B and A wards. The duties of an attendant are to look after the welfare of the patients. Dr. Bergstein was the Superintendent of the institution. I was here when certain patients named in complaint died, and on whom autopsies were held.

At this point Mr. Dodge asked the witness if he was here at the time of the death and subsequent autopsy on the remains of one Sarah Woods.

Mr. Wren objected to matters being brought before the Board that had not been specified in the charges; that an opportunity had been given for parties to file charges and that none had been filed, other than the ones read and that new matter should not be introduced at this time.

After some discussion, Mr. Dodge asked that the complaint be amended so as to contain the name of Sarah Woods and the charges regarding her case. Governor Sadler and Mr. Westerfield voted to allow the amendment, providing that an answer be filed.

I knew Geo. Dahlstrom. He died in the Asylum and an autopsy was held on his remains. I was present. Dr. Bergstein performed the autopsy. I assisted him. The brains were removed; they were put in a common soup plate and brought to the dispensary. I brought them into the dispensary. I afterwards threw the brains into the river. He died on March 31st and the brains were disposed of on April 5th, or about that date.

Alonzo Holborn died about April 5th. The remains were removed to the morgue and an autopsy was held. The brains of Holborn were removed and I brought them to the dispensary and in five or six days after I threw the brains into the river by the order of Dr. Bergstein.

The witness repeated the same duties in regard to the patient Wm. Laws. The first time I threw plate and all into the river and the doctor told me not to throw the plate away, but to get a plate and keep it for that purpose.

The last post mortem was held on Paul Bray, and the doctor told me that I had better bury the brains taken from his remains for if people heard of them being thrown into the river there might be a talk made about it. I was an attendant at that time, about August 21st, 1897.

S. W. Thomas, a patient, died and was removed to the morgue. The stomach and body was so badly bloated that it was almost impossible to keep the cover of the coffin on. The sockets of the eyes were filled with maggots. The remains were in an advanced stage of decomposition and the odor was rather stout. The burial of bodies was under the orders of Dr. Bergstein or Mr. Woods. We always waited for orders. The reason of the advanced state of decomposition of the remains was because the body was kept there too long after death. I desire to correct my statement that Bray died in June. Thomas in August. I can't say how long Mr. Thomas' remains were in the morgue. I can't say that I saw anything wrong regarding other bodies, only in the case of Thomas.

Cross-examination—I was an employe here, but am not now. Don't know that I was discharged. I understood that I was to be discharged, so asked to be relieved. I have been here about two weeks looking after this investigation. I had a talk with Will Maxwell, an employe. I don't remember that I tried to impress Maxwell that the body of Thomas laid in the morgue for 72 hours. I have talked with employes regarding the investigation and commented upon the evidence to be brought up. I did not tell Mr. Wright that Thomas' body was in the morgue 72 hours. I don't know whether I told Mr. Maxwell that the body smelled. I don't think I tried to impress anything on Maxwell. I conversed with Mr. Sullivan, but I did not tell him that it was not costing me anything to stay here and that my place was being kept for me. I did not tell Mr. W. Wright that if he would give strong testimony against Bergstein he would be reinstated by Bergstein's successor. Dr. Bergstein told me to throw Dahlstrom's brains into the river near the pump house. Dr. Bergstein explained the different parts of the brain to me as he proceeded with the autopsy. I cannot express what Dr. Bergstein said to me regarding why the autopsies were made. I understood him to say that they were to be thrown into the river.

I asked Dr. Bergstein if I was to be discharged and he did not give me a direct answer. I believe I was dismissed for striking an attendant with a lantern. I do not know how badly he was cut up.

Redirect—I think I was justified in striking the attendant. I don't know that Dr. Bergstein asked me directly to bury any of the patients. Mr. Woods read the burial service. He usually told me to get men to bury a body. I can't say, how long the body of Thomas remained in the morgue. I presume the weather was very warm in August.

E. H. Markwell—I was an employe of the institution. I was the painter I knew Geo. Dahlstrom. He died, and his body was taken to the morgue. I did not see anyone going into the dispensary with what was supposed to be brains in a plate. I did not see anyone taking brains to the river. I saw Will Young coming from the river with a plate. I never heard Dr. Bergstein tell any one to dispose of patient's brains by throwing them into the river. My understanding was that employes had to receive specific instructions from the Doctor or Mr. Woods.

H. W. Woods—Was Supervisor and Clerk of this institution; of late have been Supervisor. I began work in February, 1896, left here 30th of November, 1897. Dr. Bergstein informed me that the printed rules of former superintendents were in force, excepting some reservations. I was not here when Patient Thomas died; I was on the road to Mason Valley. In the case of the death of a patient the doctor always gave specific orders for the burial of the remains, or the delivery of same to friends or fraternal orders.

At this point Attorney Dodge asked that the charges of Mr. Wood against Dr. Bergstein be amended to embody the case of Mrs. Sarah Woods, deceased. The amendment was allowed and Mr. Wren entered a specific denial of the allegation.

Mr. Woods continued: Dr. Bergstein always gave orders for the burial of patients, naming the day and hour. I do not know of my own knowledge what disposition was made of the brains of deceased patients. From myself down, all the employes were under the specific instructions of the Superintendent. In his absence I issued orders. I do not know of the advanced state of decomposition of Thomas' remains.

The Governor here asked the witness whether or not the rules of the institution were not printed and in the hands of the Board. Mr. Woods replied that he thought they were, but that there were also verbal rules. I distributed the rules and posted some of them. There were verbal rules regarding matches, also regulating the employes going out of the grounds at night and some others that I do not recall. During the absence of the Superintendent the entire responsibility rested upon me. When he was at the institution he was responsible and he issued specific orders. I do not know how many verbal rules there were, but don't think there were a dozen. I don't know whether I resigned or was discharged. Dr. Bergstein charged me with countermanding his orders, which I denied. We had some trouble about a cash item in paid patient's account. Mr. LaGrave kept the books most of this year and I kept them before that. Mr. Young and Mr. White assisted me to some extent.

Mr. Wren asked Mr. Woods whether or not he told Dr. Bergstein that he could not make the report and needed assistance. Mr. Woods replied: At that time I was behind and not very well and the doctor had failed to get the proper balances from the Controller. The doctor always gave specific orders for the burial of the dead. If he was going to hold an autopsy he would delay the burial. I started several plans at the first of this year in relation to the management, but in every case they were stopped. One was in taking an inventory every month of the wards. It was soon called down. I can't tell who called it down, but there are people here who can. I decline to name the person who objected to the taking of a monthly inventory.

Controller LaGrave asked if it wasn't a fact that himself and one other member of the board told him to discontinue the inventory and Mr. Woods replied that such was the case. I ceased work here on the 30th of November. I know of the facts herein charged before I was discharged. I simply made them in the interest of the public. I didn't make them before because I did not have leisure time to think them up.

On the 30th of November Mr. Clovia LaGrave handed me my check and said that the boss told him to say that he was through with me. I don't recall what I said to Mr. LaGrave about Dr. Bergstein.

I know of an autopsy being held on the remains of Sarah Wood. I was there a portion of the time; don't know what disposition was made of the brains.

Mr. M. B. Jacobs, a former employe, stated: I began work here about June, '96, and ceased work in July of this year. I was an attendant. Sarah Woods died while I was there. There was an autopsy held. I saw the remains after the autopsy. I saw Mr. Young a few days after pass the building carrying a plate and I asked him what he had and he replied, "I've got Sarah Wood's brains." I asked him what he was going to do with them and he replied that he was going to throw them into the river. I asked him why he didn't bury them he answered that the "panser" had ordered it so and he would obey orders if he lost a leg. I was not discharged. I called for my time. It had been the custom for attendants on C. ward to be advanced in order of oldest employe. Another man was promoted over me and I asked for my time. The doctor told me that according to the rules I had not fulfilled my contract and to get my money I would have to sue the State. I afterwards asked Mr. Nathan to see Dr. Bergstein and have me reinstated. I spoke to Mr. Nathan about two months ago to intercede for me.

The printed as well as other rules were here introduced in evidence.

Wm. Wright sworn: Have been employed about six months as attendant in "B" ward. I was here when S. W. Thomas died. He died twenty minutes after 6 a. m. on the 23d of August. He was dressed for burial and taken to the morgue; he was there about thirty-five hours before burial. The smell was offensive when death came and it grew worse. At the time of burial there was a small bunch of fly-blows or small maggots in the corner of the right eye and in the left eye there were maggots. I presume I got my orders to assist in burial from Mr. White, whose assistant I was. I did not receive the instructions from the doctor. The morgue is kept closed and looked when a body is placed there. The morgue is about sixty feet from the milk house. The weather at the time of Thomas' death was very warm.

E. L. White, sworn, I came here June 16, 1896. I knew S. W. Thomas, he died here and I had the body removed to the morgue after it was bled and prepared for burial. I don't know who buried it, or under whose instructions it was buried. I presume I was here but had nothing to do with the burial. This concluded the case of the prosecution.

DEFENSE.
Dr. Bergstein, sworn, I summoned the employes to the office and notified them that the rules in force under my predecessor would continue with the exception of rule 1. That the hour for attendants to be off duty would be extended from 9:30 to 10 o'clock p. m. also rule 8, which provides for two weeks vacation. That would be amended so that the absence or vacation would be at the discretion of the Superintendent. The rules were here filed in evidence.

Dr. Bergstein said that in making autopsies he had someone to assist him usually the attendant of A. ward. I have performed the autopsies in order to contribute my mite to science and in order to alleviate suffering or prolong life. In disposing of the material, my words were more as a suggestion than mandatory. Matter by the stage of decomposition all goes the same way whether buried, cremated or otherwise. After the work was completed I would tell Young or any one with me as the case might be to dispose of the matter. Finally for fear of offending the sensibilities of others, I directed the matter after an autopsy to be buried and in no instances did I ever order the brains to be thrown into the flumes, ditches or river.

I don't remember about the burial of Thomas for I had nothing to do with that. Thomas was a case of dementia and frequently in cases of that character decomposition begins before death. The doctor cited cases to illustrate how this might occur. He explained how the burials were proceeded with. The Supervisor attended to the burials. I don't know whether Mr. Woods was absent at that time. It was usual for bodies to be kept for a number of hours before burial. The morgue is east of the milk house.

Mr. Young informed me that he had assaulted an attendant. I saw the man and found his face badly cut and I informed Mr. Young that I would have to dismiss him under the circumstances. As soon as I could fill his place I relieved him from duty. There was no feeling that I was aware of at that time. In fact I told him that I regretted being compelled to part with him. Mr. Wood always took charge of the burials, read the service over the dead and made the record as required. I gave him the instruction at the first death and the same rule followed. He usually come to me to find whether or not I desired to make an autopsy, in fact a burial was not performed without Mr. Wood asking me if I wanted to make an autopsy. I only instructed Mr. Young to dispose of the brains of a patient once. I do not know whether they were thrown in the river or not. The only danger in disposing of the brains was in hurting the sensibilities of relatives or friends who were not well informed on the processes of Nature. I thought of this and immediately ordered that such matter be buried.

Mr. Westerfield here asked the doctor if he would take the same view as expressed by him as far as the disposition of an arm or leg of a person was concerned. The doctor said that he
